Preface

Wang Aksorn Co., Ltd. has published The Listening and Speaking Handbook to be integrated and utilized as a supplementary learning and teaching resource. It is designed in alignment with the curricula of the Office of the Vocational Education Commission (OVEC), the Department of Learning Encouragement (DOLE), and Higher Education institutions, as well as for anyone interested in developing their knowledge and skills.

This handbook comprises comprehensive content, activity and work sheets, and parallel exercises. The primary objective is to elevate learners' capabilities by combining theoretical study with hands-on practice, thereby enhancing their skills, real-world experiences, and practical applications. The learning process deeply emphasizes moral values, ethics, professional codes of conduct, and good working habits to build the core competencies required by modern enterprises and the labor market.

The material within this handbook is up-to-date and perfectly in accordance with language education development plans, seamlessly aligning with the National Strategy and the National Education Plan. This ensures that learners successfully achieve the targeted learning outcome and the reference learning standard CEFR B1: the Common European Framework of Reference for Language.
